

FPN Corona virus update

---

Dear FPN community,

As you already have read, UM has issued new regulations to control the spread of the corona virus as of yesterday 12 March. See also the UM's homepage.

FPN's management and key players in both the teaching and research domain are currently working hard to come up with concrete measures to cope with the new situation. Later today we will inform you about these measures.

We fully understand the impact that this crisis has on your work and study activities. We realize that all of these developments come with a lot of extra work and flexibility, and are very grateful for your extra effort and cooperation.

For today, 13 March:

- All tutorials will take place as usual. Please note that attendance requirements for students have been suspended.
- Tutorless tutorials can proceed as planned.

As of Monday 16 March 2020, UM will only be offering distance learning.

More details on this will follow as soon as possible: stay tuned.

Faculty Board and Teaching Management